LARGE CROWD EXPECTED FOR P.P.H. MEETING

MUSEUM PROJECT TO BE DISCUSSED FRIDAY.

Election of Officers at Afternoon Session; Big Banquet Planned For Evening.

All things are in readiness for the annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society here Friday night, and indications are that the meeting will be one of the most important in the history of the organization.

Whether the Society will build its museum and avail itself of the $25,000 appropriation which the State Legislature is willing to invest in the Museum must be decided within the next few months, and this matter will be one of the important features of the Friday's meeting, although there will be no money raising at that time.

The afternoon session, which is the first of the day will begin at 2:30 with Mr. T. D. Hobart, the president of the society presiding. Election of officers, selection of directors to succeed those whose time expires and other business will be transacted.

Floyd Studer of Amarillo will read a paper, his subject being 'Indian Arti-Facts of the Plains"; he will tell something of the treasure which the Panhandle contains and which are being discovered and carried away in many cases before the residents of the region realize their value.

Professor L. F. Sheffy who has charge of the plans for the meeting believes that the afternoon sssion will be over by 4:30 and the time from then until the banquet hour at 6:30 will be given over to visiting and inspecting the Society's property in the Museum.

J. O. Guleke of Amarillo will be toastmaster at the banquet, for which a varied program has been arranged. Fran Kell of Wichita Falls, Senator C. C. Small of Amarillo, Mrs. Thomas H. Currie of Amarillo, and John A Lomax of Dallas are the special speakers on the program. Mr. Kell is a city-builder, a man who has seen this region change from a cattle range to a locality of many industries; he has a profound interest in the cultural development of the country in which he has lived and he believes in the service to the present and future which will be given by the Panhandle-Plains Museum if its erected.

Mrs. Thomas H. Currie, will speak on the contribution which women have made to the educational, religious and cultural life of the Panhandle. Mrs. Currie is a well known Amarillo woman, familiar for many years with the development and people of the Southwest.

John A. Lomax has put Texas and the Southwest on the map so far as cowboy folklore and songs are concerned. His ballads and songs, given as they have been given around hundreds of campfires in the past are sure to delight his hearers at the banquet.

Senator C. C. Small is intensely involved in the present day life of this part of Texas, but he has a debt appreciation of the debt which the present and future owe to the past and the pioneers. This appreciation will underlie his talk Friday night.

Songs that have grown out of the life of the range will be sung by Bill Dawes of Endee, New Mexico. Dawes has frequently been heard by radio audiences.

Herschel Coffee's violin numbers, which are always wanted when the members of the Historical Society come to Canyon, will be heard again this year, with Mrs. Coffee accompanying him.

It is probably that about 200 people will attend the banquet, and many Canyon people will have house guests for the occasion.

Public Invited To Open Meeting At Legion Hall

An open meeting will be held at the American Legion Hall Tuesday evening, April 12, at which time a local speaker will give an address on "International Relatons."

Following the talk there will be a short musical program and several games. Hosts for the occasion will be: Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Hud Prichard, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Knighton and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Price.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend, especially those who are interested in international relations.

E. H. Porter is Candidate Office of County Judge

E. H. Porter authorizes the announcement of his candidacy for the office of County Judge, subject to the Democratic Primary on July 23, 1932. Mr. Porter is owner of the Elite Barber Shop in Canyon.

Mr. Porter states that he has been a resident of the Panhandle all his life. He has lived in Canyon for nine years. He has always taken a very active interest in public affairs, and has studied the affairs of county government. He knows the duties of the office of County Judge and believes that he is qualified to look after all of the duties connected therewith. He knows what the people of the county expect of the public officer, and will carry out those wishes, keeping in mind at all times the welfare of the public and its institutions. He has never before asked for a public office, and if elected will devote all of his time to carrying out the duties which devolve upon a County Judge.

Mr. Porter states that he believes in holding up the standards of education in the rural schools to the highest point without imposing a heavy tax burden upon the tax payers. This can be done through the hearty co-operation of the County Judge, who is ex-officio school superintendent, with the county trustees. He will co-operate with the trustees in every way possible, giving advice as to the propermethods to follow, without assuming that he should dictate all policies, which responsibility devolves upon the trustees.

Mr. Porter says that he has always been deeply concerned with the welfare of Canyon and Randall county. All his investments are in this county, and he believes that local citizens should be favored in the county's business to the fullest extent. He will work with the commissioners to give the people the best county government possible. He favors a reduction of all expenses so that the tax burdens may be reduced to a minimum.

As County Judge he would take pleasure in seeing that all laws were enforced, and would co-operate with the peace officers elected in every way possible to see that those guilty of law infringment were promptly tried and given justice.

Mr. Porter states that he will attempt to see all of the voters of the county betewen now and the primary election, and cordially invites all to make an investigation of both his ability to hold the office, and his record as a good citizen while he has lived here. He will greatly appreciate the support of the voters during the campaign, and their vote in the July primary election.

Mrs. Cook will accompany Dr. Cook to the meeting.

Canyon Citizens Respond to Call To "Clean-Up"

Canyon's Clean-Up Week from April 3rd to April 9th is getting an excellent response despite high winds and sand, according to reports from those sponsoring the work, the City and the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Numerous inquiries concerning the disposal of trash have been received by those in charge. Trash may be piled in the alleys and the city will furnish wagons to haul it away, thereby cooperating with property owners in keeping their premises clean.

It is hoped that all vacant lots, cow and chicken lots will be cleaned up before the beginning of hot weather, thus doing much to eliminate the flies during the summer months as well as beautifying the city

J. T. Burnett was taken to a hospital in Amarillo Tuesday for medical treatment. He has been ill for several days, and it was hoped that the hospital treatment will give him immediate relief.

J. H. Lisle was chosen to serve as a new member and the following were re-elected: W. H. Stroud, R. E. Ball and T. V. Slack. Mr. Slack led the ticket with a total of 250 votes.

The complete count stood as follows:

Under a new law the board elected Saturday will serve a three-year term instead of two as in the past.

Freda Oberst Gives Recital Here Saturday

Local music critics pronounced the song recital by Miss Freda Oberst, mezzo soprano, given last Wednesday afternoon in the Education auditorium, an excellent piece of work, one quite indicative of the talent of the singer.

Miss Oberst, a senior, was accompanied by Prof. Wallace R. Clark. Miss Dorothy Clark gave two assisting piano numbers. Miss Oberst sang to the largest audience that has attended a student recital this year, and her hearers seemed especially to enjoy the second group of songs.

The program ran as follows: "Marie", "The Rhine," "Spring's Blue Eyes," and "In the Woods," all by Franz; "Roses in June," "Daffodils a-Blowing," and "Who'll Buy My Lavender," by Edward German.

Miss Clark played "Elude Melodique" by James H. Rogers and "Canzonetta" by Emil Liebling.

Miss Oberst gave as her concluding numbers, "Summer Highland Days" by Graham Peel, "Song of Indian Summer" by Dwight and "Love Has Wings" by Rogers.

Mrs. Haskell Lasater returned Saturday from Cleburne where she has been visiting in the home of her father, C. A. Melton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wesley left Tuesday for Portales where they will make their future home.

Harmonica Artists Have Opportunity To Go On Radio

Who is the best harmonica player in Randall County?

That's the question now being asked by the Chamber of Commerce secretary. So far in all the Chamber of Commerce radio programs over Station WDAG in Amarillo, no one has played a harmonica. In order to find the best player for such a broadcast, a contest will be staged on the next Trades Day, Saturday, April 30, according to Fred E. Wortham, secretary.

A contest for the best harmonica players will be held on the afternoon of the 30th and the winners will be given an opportunity to play on a radio program at some future date.

There will be several divisions of the contest and a winner from each division will be given an opportunity to go on the air.

It has been arranged for a regulation microphone to be placed in the band stand on the east side of the court house and the contestants' music will be heard all over the square by means of an amplification system and loud-speakers.

This contest is not to be limited to harmonica players alone, but anyone or any group who think they have a number or two which would be entertaining to the radio listeners will be given an opportunity to play or sing before the crowd on April 30 and if the judges of the contest approve they will also be given an opportunity to play over the radio.

"Randall county's musicians, harmonica players in particular are urged to being practicing now in order to be in top condition for the big contest on the afternoon of April 30. There will be no admission charges nor entry fees. It will be free and open for everyone who cares to enter, regardless of the type of entertainment. Each entrant will be given an opportunity to perform," stated Mr. Wortham. Those interested in entertaining such a contest are requested to see the secretary.

Local Chamber Of Commerce To Broadcast

The Chamber of Commerce of Canyon will present a half hour program over radio station KGRS in Amarillo Sunday afternoon from 3 to 3:30, according to Fred E. Wortham, secretary.

This program is complimentary to the regular Tuesday evening broadcast over WDAG.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Huber will present several numbers as will Oscar Croson and several others who have not been announced as yet.

Jim Jackson was a business visitor in Dimmitt Monday.

TIERRA BLANCA JERSEY HEADS HONOR ROLL

PRODUCES 1,350 POUNDS MILK DURING MARCH.

H. R. Fulton Herd Places 18 Cows Of 56 on Roll of Dairy Association.

Gamboge King's Juanita, a registered Jersey from the Tierra Blanca Jersey farm herd, placed first on the honor roll of the Randall County Herd Improvement Association for the month of March. She took honors in both the butter fat and milk production records.

Producing 1350 pounds of milk and 65.5 pounds of butter fat this cow was ahead of any other one in the association. The Tierra Blanca Jersey Farm herd also placed 15 cows on the honor roll with either a production of 1000 pounds of milk or 40 pounds of butter fat for the month. The H. R. Fulton herd exceeded that of the Tierra Blanca Farm for the number of cows on the roll by having 18 which passed the required production marks for making the honor list.

Fifty-six cows from eight herds in the county placed on the roll, according to the records of C. B. Ray, tester for the association.

All of them were much interested in the museum and were boosters for the Historical Society Museum Building.

Rotary Club Hears Talk by Englishman on World Condition

Rotarians were highly entertained Tuesday at the luncheon time by a talk by Dr. Charles Douglas Booth of London, England, who spoke on conditions in Europe in a free and frank manner.

Visitors of the club Tuesday were members of the Calves team of W. T. training school, H. T. Stewart of Denton and Leroy White of Amarillo.

The program was in charge of the Resolutions committee, Joe A. Hill, chairman.

Dr. Booth represents the Carnegie Endowment in the interest of international peace. He presented the English side of internationalism.

Dr. Booth stated that before the World War, England had the same policy as Germany—the politic of power, imperialistic in nature and design. To guarantee security, a balance of power was maintained with the second rate powers against the greater powers. England did very well as compared with other nations, and found that several wars were profitable to that empire.

The World War convinced the nation that war did not pay, and now the policy is one of peace among the nations of the world. Dr. Booth praised the first real attempt at world wide peace, started by the first real great internationalist—Woodrow Wilson. It is the germ of international cooperation.

The World Court was started, with no part in the League of Nations, and the United States has become a part of it. This is another step toward world peace.

The speaker stated that following the war a lot of treaties were made in the spirit of conquerers, and now these must be modified. European nations do not trust each other. In spite of the fact that the United States has not joined the League of Nations, its increasing cooperation is strengthening the League. It is recognized that the League cannot prohibit war among the strong nations, but it is assisting in keeping down wars among the lesser nations.

Dr. Booth states that he has heard of the depression a great deal in the United States. He described conditions in England. England did not leave the gold standard—it left the nation. But the nation has balanced its budget, and a surplus is being shown. The English people have taxed themselves very heavily. One-fourth of incomes are taxed, with only $750 exemptions. Every receipt and every check must bear a four cent stamp. $5.00 per horsepower is the annual tax on cars, making the Ford cost $100 per year. The inheritance tax is breaking up the large estates. In stabilizing the currency, it has depreciated 50 percent in value. Taxes in America are not nearly so high.

Dr. Booth stated that England recognized its debts to the United States and would pay them, because the money was borrowed in good faith. But the high tariff is reducing the possibilities of payments soon. The moratorium only put off the evil day.

American industries have expanded into Europe until this nation no longer can remain aloof. It must take its part in the world affairs.

In closing Dr. Booth predicted that many changes would be made before the world was back to "the good old times."

Randall Students Appear on Honor Roll of College

Among the 93 students whose names appear on the honor roll for the winter quarter which has just closed at the College, were 34 Canyon students and one student from Wayside.

The honor students from Canyon were Hettie Lou Bagley, Evelyn Beason, Bernice Bessire, Maude A. Bishop, Fannie Sue Brasuel, Bill Brian, Juanita Campbell, Mary E. Campbell, Lillian Chambers, Ethel Ruth Collins, Lillian Davis, Mrs. Sue Donald, W. T. Dungan, Virgil Gore, Oressa Hastings, Hazel Lackey, Martha Nell Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Laycock, Lois McCaslin, Hilda Miller, Freda Oberst, Pollyanna Pitts, Bob Rowan, Jr., Dorothy Fay Rusk, Ruth Smith, Frank Steen, Flora Terry, Frances Usery, Laura Wallace, Ray Wallrabenstein, Roy Whittenburg, Pauline Wilson and Ruth Wiseman, all of Canyon, and Aline McGehee of Wayside.

Fred Pool of Austin, member of the State Agricultural department, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray V. Davis Tuesday.

CITY TURNS OUT RECORD VOTE IN CITY ELECTION

BURROW, CRAIN AND AMEND ARE NAMED.

New Commission Wins on Program of Economy for City, and Opposes Bond Issues at Present.

A record vote was polled Tuesday in the city election, more than 600 going to the polls to make their selection for the coming two years.

C. R. Burrow was elected mayor, without opposition, so far as the printed ballots were concerned, receiving 537 votes.

The following was the result of the race among the four candidates for commissioner:

H. W. Crain	405
W. S. Amend	397
J. I. Ballengee	162
H. A. Brown	142

The winners of the election had been named by friends to compose a ticket, and based their appeal to the voters on the program of economy, and to keep the city's business in the same good condition that it is today. Opposition to further bonded indebtedness, and reduction of running expense of the city were named by the men of this ticket. Furthermore, they were pledged in advance to begin the reduction of operating expenses by reducing the salaries drawn by members of the city commission to $5.00 per month.

Mayor-elect C. R. Burrow states that the new commission has not promised jobs to any one. That when the commission meets to begin a study of the city's affairs, the members will seek in every way possible to provide an efficient city administration at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers.

New Paramount Theatre to Be Opened April 21

Amarillo will be, for the day, "movie capital" of the nation when the new Paramount, magnificent 1,700-seat motion picture theatre, opens on Thursday, April 21.

It will be a regular "Hollywood opening," attended by many notables of the film and theatre world to augment the host of Amarillo and Panhandle first-night celebreties.

Will Winch, manager of the Publix theatres in Amarillo, is making strong effort to secure a Paramount News Reel cameraman to photograph the big event and give it country-wide circulation. Station WDAG will provide a special radio hook-up to broadcast the celebration to the world.

Dedicatory speeches, special music and an outsanding feature picture, added to the other inaugural exercises, will make the opening remarkable. It will be a Panhandle event.

The new Paramount theatre has been built by the Paramount-Publix organization to keep step with Amarillo's prograss.

The new Paramount has a refrigeration plant of the latest type, eliminating "cold spots," draughts and violent air currents. The air will be purer and healthier than that on the street, says the engineer in charge.

The sound equipment is unique, and only recently perfected. The special film screen is one of the largest in the Southwest. The huge electric sign, 40 feet above the street level, will become a landmark to Amarillo visitors. The large seating capacity, luxurious appointments and unexcellent programs promise to make the new Paramount theatre the amusement shrine of the Panhandle.

The theatre covers an area of 90x180 feet and is completely designed for both motion picture and stage productions. The decorative motif is modernistic, inside and out, giving it unquestioned rank as the pride of the Panhandle.

Mr. Lockhart stated yesterday that the usual interest was being shown in the meet of this year and that he expected a very large attendance from the schools of the district.

Miss Minnie Allen of Hedley visited in the home of Miss Mary Moss Richardson Sunday.

THE MUSEUM

The annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be held tomorrow. It is the most important meeting so far as Canyon is concerned that will be held this year. At this time, it is expected that information will be developed as to the possibility of starting construction on the museum bulding, an appropriation of $25,000 having been granted by the legislature last year, which must be matched by local subscription of an equal amount. L. F. Sheffy has secured a large part of the needed $25,000 in subscriptions, but not all of it is cash. Many Canyon people have subscribed, but many have not.

Frankly The News is of the opinion that unless this $25,000 is raised and the museum built this year, it may be 10 or 20 years before there will be another opportunity for such a building. In the meanwhile, interest in the preservation of historic material will have dwindled. The old timers, many of them at least, will have passed on. The makers of West Texas history are rapidly passing away, and their contribution to civilization is rapidly disappearing. This material must be saved now, if it is ever to be saved. During the past year, while there has been no one in particular to look after the interest of the Historical Society, a vast amount of material has been taken to other societies which had a place to deposit it, and which had men in the field ready to take advantage of any offerings. This material is forever lost to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society to which it rightfully belonged.

Times are hard now, but this is the biggest opportunity that has been presented to the people of the Plains since the College was established here 23 years ago this spring. To default now will retard the progress of the College, and will divert the attention of people from the College and Canyon which are greatly needed for the future growth and development of the community. The money must be raised so that the building can be completed by August, even if it comes to passing the hat for pennies, nickels and dimes. There is not a citizen in Canyon who cannot contribute a little toward this building. There are many who can contribute large amounts. Many people from the outside are making large contributions. All of the pioneers are making contributions, and are looking to Canyon with the expectation that the museum will be completed.

Every citizen in Canyon must put his shoulder to the wheel and push hard, now that the crucial moment has arrived. Do your part toward this $25,000.

The formation of tax leagues over the state has been a blessing to the state, as it has made the citizens stop and investigate their tax bills, and start a program which eventually will be of benefit to the taxpayers. On first thought, citizens of every community always blame all of their high taxes on the state and national governments, and charge gross extravagance. Investigation has shown that 84 per cent of the tax bill is for local uses, and that practically half of local taxes are due to interest and sinking funds upon the bonds which the taxpayers themselves voted during good times when it would seem that everyone would have all he wished so long as he lived. The study of the situation, however, is going to be very helpful. It is going to make citizens better appreciate their government, and in the future make them study more carefully the various plans for bond issues which are presented for a vote. Turning on the light always pays. Keeping the taxpayers in darkness never pays.

Higgins News: For twenty-two years Clyde W. Warwick has been guiding the destiny of the News in the city of Canyon. When he took up his work in that city, the place was not much more than a wide place in the road and the college was a puny child, needing a lot of care and attention. As the years have flown, the people of Canyon have worked for the school. And they have found the editor of the News a present help at all times, the personal efforts as well as the giving of space in the paper being freely given. And the fact that the town has grown and prospered and the college made one of the best in the state, is gratifying to the editor who has labored so faithfully for the home town and its prosperity. May the News still wax fat with well earned patronage. It is a good paper and the people of Canyon may well feel proud of the News.

Buying out of town may have a great fascination, but just consider what would happen to Canyon if every citizen boghut all of his goods out of Canyon. The land where Canyon stands is perhaps worth $20 per acre as a cow pasture. If we are going to build a town, we must put something on these acres to make them more valuable. Every business house which is forced out of business lowers the value of all property just so much. Every dollar spent out of Canyon makes another town grow just so much more at the expense of Canyon. If you want to protect your property values in Canyon, keep your money in circulation in Canyon.

The personal appeal of John Garner won for him the support of the House in the passage of the tax bill for the purpose of balancing the national budget. However, the senate has yet to act on the bill, and predictions are that the upper house will do plenty to the tax measure. The reduction in federal appropriations is the thing most to be desired at the present time in order that the tax bill will not be so large.

Farmers in this section are complaining mightily regarding the way loans are being handled by the federal loan committee. It is stated that it is next to impossible to get loans through the office at Dallas. Farmers feel that the government was lenient to big business in making loans, but are hard on the farmers. The local committee has been demanding action on the part of the Dallas office.

Cisco high school has been barred from participation in the interscholastic league athletics for the coming year for playing ineligible boys last fall. High school athletics is taking too big a part of the students' attention in most of the schools. Cleaning up the situation should command the attention of the authorities during the coming year.

It is estimated that the wheat has been cut by the dry weather and high winds fully 40 percent, and the oats and barley cut fully half. The reduction in yield should have a good effect upon prices this year. The largest row crop in the history of the county will be the result of the loss in the wheat crop.

Newspaper workers, men trained in handling crime and crime news, stated a week after the Lindbergh kidnapping that the child would likely never be recovered. There was too much chance in such an important case. Five weeks have now passed and the case seems to be as much a mystery as on the night of the crime.

With all of the big towns of the United States financially embarassed and unable to sell their bonds or warrants, it is a pleasure to know that the city of Canyon, the Canyon Independent School District, and the County of Randall are all in good financial condition, and on a cash basis.

Clean Up in Canyon is the order for this week. If you have not done your part, get busy. The city is doing everything possible to assist in the campaign of making a clean town before the opening of spring. If your property has not been cleaned, do so at once.

A lot of individuals are having a hard time balancing their budgets. It is hard to live upon lowered incomes. However, individuals are getting now to the basis of their incomes more rapidly than are governments—local, state and national.

An enterprising Pampa business man decided to hire a man at $50 per week to do his worrying for him until things got better—but then he was up against the worry of finding the $50 per.

General Heroism of Army Nurse Corps Overshadowed Individual Deeds

Heroism during the World War won these three members of the Army Nurse Corps the D. S. C. Isabelle Stambaugh, above left, was cited for service during the big German drive of March 21, 1918, when she was wounded by fire from German planes. Helen G. McClelland, upper right, received the award because she remained at her post of duty during a German night air raid, caring for Beatrice M. MacDonald, wounded. Nurse MacDonald, lower right, won the D. S. C. by remaining on duty during the raid, until she received the wound which cost her an eye.

IN the years since the World War much has been written and told of the A. E. F. soldier heroes. But few have been the tales of individual valor in the Army Nurse Corps—that band of women who spurned home comforts to go overseas and minister to their warring menfolk.

For this, perhaps, there is a reason. When asked to name the outstanding World War heroine among her sisters who saw service, Major Julia C. Stimson, superintendent of the Army Nurse Corps, pointed to a picture on the wall of her Washington, D. C., office and said: "There she is . . . and I myself do not know her name."

The picture showed soldiers lying on stretchers with white cloths over their faces. There were many hands in gestures of suffering. Stooping over that sea of men, as unconscious of the fact that she was being photographed as were the poor fellows whose eyes, lungs and brains were seared with poison gas, was a woman.

"There she is in her white apron and cap, working out-of-doors. She is just a nurse," Major Stimson said simply, reverently.

Selection of any one nurse from the rest, then, must be done with remembrance of the willing heroism of them all. Miss Stimson recalled one instance which exemplified their universal courage and spirit of self-sacrifice.

One dark night, learning that over 200 soldiers were lying in agony and without care in an ill-equipped hospital at Beauvais, France, Miss Stimson assembled her band of 20 nurses and asked for eight volunteers for night duty, made perilous by continuous air raids. All 20 stepped forward.

* * *

AT the end of the World War, 271 members of the Army Nurse Corps, of the 10,066 who served overseas, had laid down their lives. None were killed in action, though three were wounded by enemy fire. More than two-thirds of the casualties resulted from pneumonia and influenza, induced largely by overwork, exhaustion and poor living conditions.

One of the nurses wounded, and likewise one of the three members of the Army Nurse Corps to be awarded the coveted American Distinguished Service Cross, was Miss Beatrice M. MacDonald. Miss MacDonald's citation follows.

"For extraordinary heroism in action while on duty with the surgical team . . . in the British Area, France, Aug. 17, 1917. During a German night air raid, she continued at her post of duty caring for the sick and wounded until seriously wounded by a German bomb, thereby losing one eye."

Another D. S. C. winner was Miss Helen G. McClelland, who during the Aug. 17 night raid remained with Nurse MacDonald and cared for her wounds.

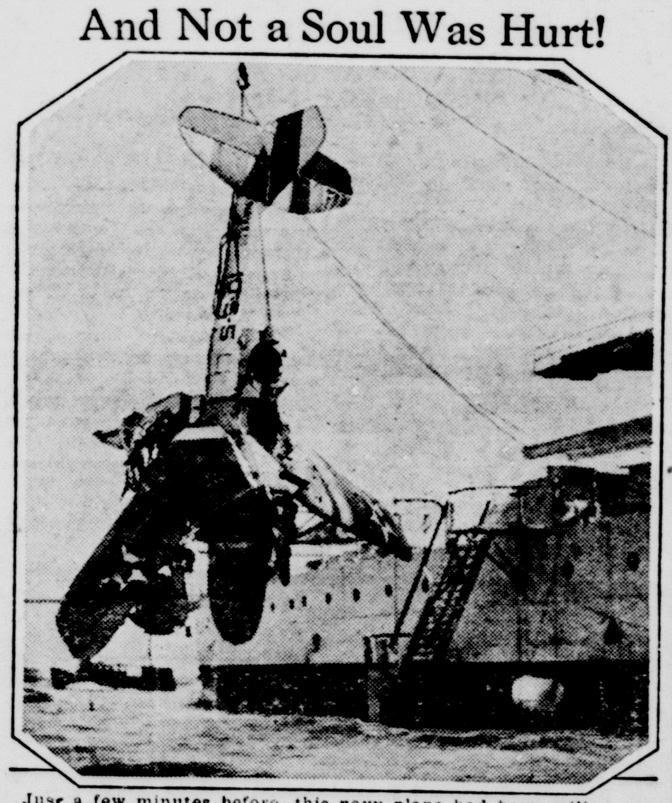
The other nurse to receive the D. S. C. was Miss Isabelle Stambaugh. Her citation.

"While with a surgical team at a British casualty clearing station during the big German drive of March 21, 1918, in front of Amiens, France, she was seriously wounded by shell fire from German aeroplanes."

The curt, formal citations, of course, are stripped of all detail. They do not record the endless, nerve-shattering days spent amidst scenes of horror and agony; nor the terrible nights when, exhausted, the nurses lay awake listening to the hum of enemy planes and the earth-rocking crash of bombs.

But that was everyday experience with a war zone nurse.

And Not a Soul Was Hurt!



Just a few minutes before, this navy plane had been sailing majestically through the air high above the U. S. S. Colorado in Los Angeles harbor. But it collided and brushed wings with another navy plane, and dove crazily into the water. No one was hurt, although the plane shown being pulled from the water will be laid up for a while.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Much interest is being manifested for the cause of Christ. There were large crowds at both morning and night services last Sunday and four good people responded to the Gospel call. Men and women are hearing and obeying the word of God when preached in its purity and simplicity. Nothing being added or taken from the truths therein. Why not take them just as they are? Resolve in your heart to come to the Church of Christ next Sunday and the Sunday following. There is a hearty welcome for all. The subject Sunday morning will be, "The Deceived Soul," preached by the local minister. The services Sunday night will be in charge of Bro. George Archer, his subject being, "The Power of the Word." Come and give him the encouragement he so worthily deserves. Don't forget the regular services on Sunday and during the week. We want you to feel welcome at any service.

Where everyone is friendly.

Accessories Important in Spring Styles

IN SELECTING FANCY EXTRAS TO DIVERSIFY HER WARDROBE, MILADY MUST MAKE SURE THAT EACH SET MATCHES

ACCESSORIES are highly important, in the new spring mode.

The old saying that it is the little things that count can be repeated to mean accessories. For you can take two entirely different sets of accessories and the same suit and have two very diverse costumes.

There are many rather fancy accessories this year that should be chosen carefully. Shoes, for instance, may combine fancy ostrich leather with plain, fabric with kid, suva cloth with kid or make any number of combinations. But you must get your purse to match. And the same can be said of your hat, bag, scarf or blouse, too.

Certain of the new fancy mesh hose are designed to go nicely with a given pair of lizard and plain shoes, ostrich and calf or some other combination.

TO illustrate how accessories change a given suit, look at this charming aquarelle tweed. Worn with the jacket and a given set of accessories, it is a lovely street costume.

This group of accessories includes a striped scarf which ties Ascot above the wide lapels of the coat, a cute little fabric hat with just a minimum of trim, and plain pull-on gloves.

The purse and shoes are very new, both showing a blending of contrasting textures, baby calf with cotton mesh, which is a new note this season.

If you want to change into a sportswoman, shed your double-breasted coat, and tuck a little vest into your skirt made of double striped kerchiefs, knotted on both shoulders, and crossing their stripes in front. This gay vest shows the twin stripe design popular this spring, and is very nice with a fabric bag that repeats the milder of the vest's stripes.

With this outfit you need a ghillie, this unlined sports shoe being made of ostrich, with a calf-skin tip. The little beret that sits aslant her head is woven felt and straw, a new product that is very packable and very chic when unpacked and put on the head.

New spring skirts lend themselves admirably to the separate blouse idea that lets you change one costume into two or even more, very easily. This skirt, for instance, has the high-waisted line that is new this spring, but it also has a belt around its waistline to give it a finished look when worn with other blouses.

At left is a double-breasted suit in delicate aquarelle tweed, worn with shoes and bag of baby calf with cotton mesh, showing the new blending of contrast textures. The striped Ascot scarf carries out the rough surface effect of the tweed, and the color note of shoes and bag is repeated in the scarf and hat. Remove the coat, don a sports blouse of two Bruyere scarf-vests, add the new woven felt and straw beret and ostrich ghillie, and you have the smart outfit shown at right. Note the matching stripe design of the jersey bag.

CANYON CITY CLUB NEWS

It is but a short time until the League shedule opens at Plainview, to be exact it is April 24th; practice is the order of the day as the first match counts as much as the last. Get ready and be on your game for the opener.

The women golfers are urging that every woman in the Club attend their Thursday afternoon play; whether you play good, bad or indifferent golf, you are wanted at the Club on that day, especially, other times when possible. Those playing last Thursday were, Mrs. T. S. Maxwell, Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick, Mrs. Lee Foster, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Mrs. H. A. Brown, Mrs. W. C. Kunze, Mrs. R. B. Davis, Mrs. Dan Sanders, Mrs. T. H. Knighton, Mrs. A. L. Walsh, Miss Olive Schramm, Mrs. Felix Neff and Mrs. Frank Shotwell. They report some trouble on number seven.

A team from the Club visited Happy Sunday, winning twelve of fifteen matches. Those winning were Prichard, E. Wooten, Scott, Kleinschmidt, Walsh, Neff, Bryant, Brown, Knighton, Savage, Craig and Reeves from W. Walberg, Guthrie, H. Townsend, E. Walberg, Magness, L. Walberg, B. Townsend, Webb, Harris, Lemmons, B. Walberg and Gaines, respectively. Cope, Stubblefield and Arnold of Happy defeated Gamewell, Gano and Duflot.

The prize, or something, should go to W Walberg of Happy for the most unusual shot made in the matches at Happy Sunday. Walberg was playing in a forsome following the match Tom Knighton was in; Walberg thinking those ahead were out of reach, shot and his ball struck in Knighton's bag on the carry; Tom unconcernedly took his bag from his shoulder and poured the ball out, saying, "That's good control."

E. Wooten, F. F. Ferrell and E. J. Cundiff became members of the Club last night.

It's mighty tough luck when a straight shot bounces crooked, but scientific when a poor shot ducks toward the green; however, good and bad luck about even up.

$1,000,000 Cape in Museum

Valued at $1,000,000, this one-time ceremonial cape of Hawaiian kings now adorns a display case in the National Museum, Washington, D. C. Hundreds of thousands of tiny feathers plucked from rare birds now extinct, and woven together so smoothly and thickly as to resemble heavy velvet, make up the garment. The illustration at left shows how the garment was worn. It is 40 inches long, 11½ feet around the lower edge, and 23 inches around the neck.

John A. Lomax, Noted Collector of Cowboy Songs, to Come Here

By Frances Lewis Reeves

John A. Lomax of Dallas is to be a speaker at the annual Panhandle-Plains Historical Society banquet Friday night of this week. He is the man who has preserved cowboy songs for America in two volumes which are today the standard of all collections, and who, singing these songs from one end of the country to the other, was unpremeditatedly the best press agent Texas ever had. Most people are familiar with the priority and completeness of Mr. Lomax's collection of cowboy songs, but few know that he, with his songs of the cattle trail, has fired the nation-wide interest in native balladry that has reached tremendous proportions in the two decades since his work started.

An early convert of regionalism, John A. Lomax began fighting its battles almost before he could write them. When he commanded a pencil, probably the first indigenous American literature to be put into writing—the famous Texas cowboy songs he has since sung up and down the land—were recorded in a boyish script and carried about for fifteen years by the persistent range troubadour who would not accept dismissal by the Texas professorate to whom the songs did not appear "literary." So "The Dying Cowboy," sponsored by a very live and determined one, did not die after all.

Interests Harvard Men

Some years later, about 25 years ago, this Texan called upon two eminent Harvard men of letters and dropped the informational bomb that folk poetry was being made, actually evolving, if you please, out on the ranges of the Southwest, and in the unsuspected depths of Brazos plantations. Up to that very day, hour, and minute everybody had supposed that ballads belonged to a period and a folk very remote and practically extinct. Until Mr. Lomax applied Texas technique to the business of uncovering folk poetry, only two of the ballads had been discovered. Now more than 60 have been coaxed into print.

So the little roll of cowboy songs that John A. Lomax had carried in his trunk from his Basque county home was the torch that fired the whole American ballad conflagration and enlisted as its champions two of the greatest names in the calendar of letters—George Lyman Kittredge and Barrett Wendell of Harvard.

Lectures in 43 States

For ten years Mr. Lomax was the traveling representative of the Texas range. From lecture platforms in 43 states he has delighted audiences with the melodies with which cowboys were wont to persuade or admonish their herds.

Texas, home of the songs, is too close to the ballad material to see it in the proper perspective, Mr. Lomax insisted until recently. But with the range receding, and the cowboy becoming more and more a legendary figure, the songs of their period assume an identity, and the range song authority is delivering lectures in a number of Texas cities and towns.

Not All Songs Printed

Mr. Lomax has had success, failure, and a great deal of fun gathering his songs. The greater part of his hundreds of pages of negro poetry, gained by word of mouth and by the all-hearing phonograph, is still unpublished, and the collector is only now turning his attention to its compilation in book form.

Perhaps the best source of cowboy ballads was the broncho-busters who frequented rodeos. Along the side lines with these Stetsoned and bechapped performers, Mr. Lomax squatted, recording the songs by means of the phonograph. When the singers were reticent, the words had to be jotted down, often in darkness or by the flickering light of a camp fire, and the tune remembered as best it might. The most rollicking of the songs was sung by a gypsy fortune teller camped near the stock yards in Fort Worth. Negroes also helped a great deal.

The published songs have for 20 years, since the first of two volumes was issued, made their appeal in ever-widening circles to audiences and read far removed from the cattle trail and cow camp. Issued under the imprint of the largest publishing company in America, the books have gone into several editions and many printings, and have also had publication in England.

Mr. Lomax has been recognized for years as the nation's greatest authority in this phase of Southwestern folk lore. His appearance in 43 states and in most of the important universities have earned him an enviable reputation as an interpreter of perhaps the saltiest and most vital of all native American folk art.

L. N. George Says—

Twelve more families that are coming to school this summer have been added to our list during the past week. This puts our number around eighty-five. So many have asked about our milk supply for the summer that I think it well to comment a bit here. What absolute proof do we have that our milk is not contaminated with TB., typhoid, undulent fever, or any of the other disease forming organisms? Good clean milk is the cheapest and best food on earth and should be used much more than it is. But the fact that it is such a perfect food makes it an ideal media for growing bacteria. If clean milk is a real benefactor, if unclean there is nothing more unwholesome. Then what about our milk supply for the summer?

These sand storms are reducing our wheat acreage every hour. What the cotton crop will bring is very problematical. How this will affect college attendance may be figured from several angles. Some people believe that the worst is yet to come. It may be for those who have not hit the bottom. But a large majority of us have reached the place where we cannot possibly go any lower hence every thing is in our favor. Boys and girls over the country are planning to go to school. They are starting gardens and planning ways of getting together food and a little money and a few clothes and looking to Canyon as the natural place for them to go to college. I am rightly accused of bringing a number of poor folks to Canyon. I know of no way of cutting them back. If I did I would have to be built differently from what I am to use it. Let us bring every good student here that we can and do all that we can for him.

Spring Football Is Coming Along Fine, Says Coach

Spring football training in the Buffaloes' camp, at the West Texas State Teachers College, came to a standstill last Thursday, for a short rest period, while Coach S. D. Burton and a few helpers motored to Follett to take charge of the Lipscomb County track meet, which was held there Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of the past week.

Monday afternoon the regular practice drills were resumed, and between 30 and 35 prospective Buffaloes were once again on hand to learn the Big Coach's system of football and to be in proper condition when the fall term opens, thus being ready for the early season games in September.

Students Help Coach

Besides Assistant Crump's regular duties on the football gridiron in carrying out the back-field plays and directing men who intend to try for those positions. Coach "Sad Sam" has two outstanding former Buffaloes helping carry on the work. They are Leo Cooper and Bob Clark, both four-year letter men. These two Buffaloes have served their team so satisfactorily that the Bison director decided that they could be of a real service to his squad members, and he placed them in charge of some of the future Herd members during the six weeks of spring training.

Never before in the history of the institution has any team been so optimistic over the 1932 prospects. Fired by the attitude of Captain Bill McLendon, every Buffalo is putting forth his best efforts to make a berth on the regular lineup, and those who fail to get the first call will be on hand as the first substitutes when actual games are encountered this fall.

Keep Letter Men

Practically all of the 1931 letter men will return with the exception of Lloyd Devin, Bob Clark and Leo Cooper. This helpful feeling will go a long way in building up a powerful West Texas Buffalo football team. Besides the past season letter men, some players of former years, who have been away teaching, will return to the old gridiron for further service to their Alma Mater.

Also, some of the best freshmen or first year men ever seen in W. T.'s football kingdom will become eligible for the varsity squad next season, and, due to the fact that Coach Mitchell Jones has already given them the Buffalo system of playing, these young aspirants will be hard to beat out of a position.

Church School Has Over 60 Enrolled for Second Term

The second term of the church school for persons interested in the organization and conduct of church work is now in progress at the Christian Church. The school meets every Wednesday evening at 7:15. The second term has 60 enrolled. This term began the last Wednesday in March and will continue through the last Wednesday in May. Those who wish to enroll will still be able to until Wednesday evening of this week. The fee is one dollar, which takes care of overhead expenses, such as the lighting and heating of the building.

There are two new courses which might be of special interest to some. One course is the story of the English Bible which is taught by Dr. F. M. Darnall. The other class is one taught by W. L. Vaughn and which is open to people not wishing credit but who wish to discuss problems of a religious nature. An invitation is extended to all who wish to take part in this course.

The object of the church school is to give inexperienced teachers practical training in organization and conduct of church work. Frequently, teachers are called on to participate in church work, and these courses are designed to provide such training.

Mrs. Reeves Gets Article Printed in April "Outlook"

Mrs. T. V. Reeves, head of the Bureau of Public Service, is the author of an interesting article that has just appeared in the April edition of the Texas Outlook. It follows in full:

More Pioneering

Northwest Texas is pioneering again! This time it is not experimenting in the growing of wheat, or building of adobe houses. It is seeking a way to make girlhood richer and happy womanhood more certain. This time the pioneers are the women who have been chosen as advisers of deans of girls in the high schools of a region of unusually diverse and mobile population, hampered little by traditions and conventions.

It is said that Northwest Texas has more deans of women and girls than any other section of like population in Texas. When the State Teachers Association met in Amarillo last November, these deans came to know each other to some extent. The one thing about which all members of the group were agreed was that they knew too little of their jobs, which, frequently, had been thrust upon teachers who were without preliminary preparation. The result was the organization of a Panhandle Association of Deans of Women and Girls.

The new organization will include deans of women and girls in schools and colleges from Lubbock on the south to the north line of the state. The Panhandle Association (a) will study the work of deans in high schools and colleges of this section of the state; (b) will learn what these deans do in their official capacity and what teaching and other duties they carry on; (c) what training they have had. The regional organization will have meetings occasionally and will pool their resources to bring to such meetings speakers of worth.

They will also bend their efforts to educate the public concerning the office of dean or adviser of girls; to establish a high standard of quality of work and training within their group; to make a careful study of the whole question of the education of women.

This is the first regional organization of its kind in Texas; it will endeavor to reach the objectives of the section of the State Teachers Association of which it is a part, and will carry the purposes and ideals of that section to a large number of deans who are unable to attend the annual state meetings regularly.

Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women of the West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, and Miss Marie Miles of the Tulia High School faculty were chosen chairman and secretary, respectively, of the new organization. Miss Ivy Cheatham of Waxahachie is president of the Texas Association of Deans of Women and Girls.

It is expected that the Panhandle Association will hold its first meeting in March.

H. T. Stewart of Denton is visiting at the home of his brother, Dr. D. M. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray V. Davis and her mother, Mrs. J. B. Walton of Sweetwater, visited in Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Horney and young son of Amarillo were guests Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robbins.

Speaking of handicaps, how does the fellow stack up who has a wooden leg and tries to drown himself?

MR. MERCHANT:

WHEN MRS. CANYON PUBLIC COMES DOWN town shopping, will she know you have the latest style merchandise for sale at fair prices?

Or does she think she must go out of town to get the newer things at prices she can afford to pay?

MAYBE IT ISN'T HER FAULT IF SHE DOES.

Since she's not a mind-reader, she can't know that you have new merchandise that is equal in style, quality and price to anything she can get out of town, unless you tell her so. Have you made every effort to get the news to her?

This Mrs. Public has a very short memory also. She may have obtained good style merchandise from your store any number of times; but if she isn't continually reminded that you have the season's newer things, she forgets.

She reads THE CANYON NEWS because it contains news of interest to her. It brings her society news, community news, and market news. The wise Canyon merchant uses these columns every week to carry his story of new merchandise to Mrs. Public, who does the buying for her household.

Assemblies

BOYS

As a program for boys' assembly last Tuesday, Mr. McDonald divided the boys into two groups under the supervision of himself and Coach Brady. The boys went outside where games were played

The main purpose of this was to give every boy in school some outdoor exercise and sunshine. The games that were played were: "Three-Deep" and "Hot-Tail."

Everyone had a good time and was wanting to continue with the games until school was out.

GIRLS

Mrs. Geraldine Green spoke to the girls in their assembly Tuesday on the choosing of vocations. Mrs. Green believed that girls should not decide on only one profession as a life's work, but should train themselves in at least three. Then, in case a woman or girl was thrown out of her major vocation, she would have herself so prepared that she would be able to take up another, and probably several jobs, before she became located, in order that she would not be entirely helpless and without means of making a living.

"There are now several crowded field," stated Mrs. Green. "For example, these are nursing, office and school teaching."

A girl wants to be certain of her income before she begins study to become a doctor, preacher, or lawyer because women in these three fields have a hard time in establishing themselves on a paying basis.

Mrs. Green's talk was quite worthwhile and instructive as well as interesting.

Police are holding a man who took 25 cents from his baby's bank. With money as important as it is today, he'll probably be indicted for embezzlement.

Resigns Post

EDGAR W. GRADY

Edgar W. Brady, for the past two years coach of athletics at the Canyon High School, handed in his resignation last week to become effective at the end of the present school year. Coach Brady leaves Canyon High School to assume similar duties in the Sayre, Okla., schools.

Coach Grady leaves an enviable record behind in the local high school where he has proved himself to be one of the leading coaches in West Texas. Under his leadership the Eagles have won 16 out of 19 conference games played in football. His teams have been equally as successful in other sports.

The athletic record of Mr. Brady is secondary, however, to the high ideals of sportsmanship and clean living that he has ever stressed since his coming to our school: Canyon High regrets to lose Coach Brady, but wishes him every success in his new position.

"Whoofenpoof" Is Postponed To April 15

The date for the Senior play has been changed from April 8th to April 15th because of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society banquet to be held on the 8th.

The story is not only hilarously funny but one within the scope of high school actors.

C.H.S. Tennis Men Begin Season With Victories

At Amarillo, the boys won 3 matches of the 5 played Thursday. The Sandies found it difficult to oust A. Robinson and Black. The score was 3-6, 6-3, 4-6.

Lockhart lost his singles match 4-6, 7-9. Wooten easily won his match 6-1, 6-1.

Lockhart and Thomas wore their opponents down and won, 7-5, 6-2.

Taylor and Stroud won, 6-2, 7-5.

Hereford came to Canyon and received a sound drubbing, winning only one of the four matches played. The scores were:

Wooten, singles, 6-3, 6-3.

Stroud singles, 1-6, 4-6.

Robinson and Black, doubles, 6-2, 6-1

Lockhart and Thomas, doubles, 6-2, 9-7.

The girls have not been so successful. Schmitz rang up the only victory, 6-4, 8-4, against Hereford.

Cash lost the other singles match with Hereford, 1-6, 1-6.

Overton and Schmitz lost the doubles at Amarillo, 1-6, love-6. Overton and Plaster did slightly better against Hereford, losing by 2-6, 7-9.

The teams went to Hereford Tuesday and will enter the Amarillo High School Invitation Tournament Saturday, April 9. Matches will be scheduled with Plainview, Happy, and Friona. Several trips may be made to Amarillo.

CANYON DEBATES HEREFORD

Thursday afternoon Hereford came to Canyon for a practice debate on the Interscholastic League question.

No decision was given but the Canyon team of Oliver Grabbe and Thomas Gerald showed up well.

APRIL HOLIDAY

Canyon High School enjoyed a holiday on April Fool's Day. The holiday was dedicated to the special use of the Freshmen and the enjoyment of the upper-classmen.

Girls' Physical Education Class Plans Play Day

Toward the latter part of April, a play-day for girls, sponsored by Miss Goodrich and her gym classes will be held. This is the first year for such an activity day to be set aside.

Brief plans have been made as to the conducting of games. As they have been arranged, they are: match games of volly ball and baseball, relay races, and broad and high jumps. Another division of activities consists of heavy weight and lightweight broad and high jumps, while the comic races are toe-sack races, human croquet, and other such games.

Miss Goodrich has been training her grade and high school classes on this type of work combined with health exercises. They will give a special program on April 29th, at the annual school exhibit, showing what gym classes can and have accomplished.

TRACK EVENTS.

Spring football practice will probably claim most of the track men, but the few that have proved their ability during the past weeks wil continue their practice. The most outstanding track man is Willard Middleton, the lanky senior, who won a letter last year by placing at the League meet. He steps the half mile in a few seconds over two minutes. By steady training he should lower this time and finish close to the front in any of these meets.

Two other likely candidates are F. A. Thomas and Hampton Lisle. Thomas is fast on the mile and quarter mile while Lisle shows up better on the shorter strips.

Spring Football Practice Starts Here April 11

Spring football practice will open for the future Eagles Monday, April 11. The purpose of the drill is to polish up on the primary fundamentals of the hopeful gridsters, such as tackling, blocking and the elements of running or carrying the pigskin. The length of the drill is uncertain but there will be plenty of time before school closes to impove on or work on these Eagles, who are coming up.

All men who will be eligible as players next year are requested to check out a suit and be out every day.

The news that Henry T. Hunt has resigned from the staff of Seabury investigators should cheer certain New York officials. Heretofore, there's been too much hunt to suit them.

SUPERSTITION

Are we all supertitious?

Perhaps we hate to admit it, but still if the students of C. H. S. are fair samples, indications would lead to that belief. Nearly every student of the school has a special superstition. However, there is one belief that has lost all prestige here among the football team, any how. The story goes that just before the Pampa-Canyon tilt every Eagle secured a rabbit's foot and when the first whistle blew every man had his token. As we well remember, the Eagles got the wrong end of that deal. Before the game ended every Eagle who had not stomped his token of good luck was talking to it.

Did you ever notice the horseshoe over Miss Dickenson's English room? Wilford Taylor placed it there for her good luck.

Has anyone noticed Celestine McGee making wide detours around sidewalks? That's because its bad luck to her to cross water hose.

Margary Tankersly never passes a white horse without stamping it, or a hay stack without making a wish.

Willard Middleton will back a block rather than let a black cat cross his path.

Mr. Carruth states that when his ears burn, he knows for sure someone is talking about him.

Bobby Campbell is always sure to go on the same side of a post as his friend or there will be a big fight.

Louise Wester always looks for pins. If the point is to her, she has found a false one.

Girls always pick up stray buttons. A white button means a blond, a black button, brunette man is going to enter their life.

Wishbones are frequently pulled. The one getting the shortest side will be married before the other.

There is a group in High School that never goes home after 12 p. m. without going around the College for fear they will have very bad luck if they do not. Whether these are foolish or true, we all enjoy our faith in them.

Even Michelangelo

SUGGESTING how the other fellow should run his business is a favorite sport. Even Michelangelo did not escape. After that great genius had placed his David on its pedstal beside the entrance to the Palazzo Vecchio, a pompous Florentine official suggested that the nose appeared to him too large.

Michelangelo climbed a ladder, pretended to work at the face for a few minutes, dropping soke marble dust which he had in his pocket, and then, having made nochange at all, turned with a questioning look to his critic.

"Bravo! Bravo!" cried the critic. "You have given it life!"

FURNISHING electric service is our business, just as selling food, clothing, shoes, etc., is the business of merchants.

Those who attack the rates of electric utilies might perform a more valuable public service if they turned their attention to the tax structure of government.

From 1902 to 1930 electric light and power company taxes increased 200 per cent. More than 10 cents out of every dollar now received from customers is paid out again in the form of taxes. IN OTHER WORDS, ONE-TENTH OF YOUR BILL REPRESENTS TAXES. In spite of this increase in taxes, in this same period—1902 to 1930—the cost of domestic electric service DECREASED 55 per cent.

Wayside Items

Still windy and dry. Wheat growers would appreciate moisture. Some think might help the cut worm menace, hundreds of acres have been destroyed by cut worms, quite a lot has been blown out by high winds. Some think the latter trobule could be helped by deep plowing. Prospects for wheat crop not flattering at the present time.

Rev. J. A. Lindley filled his regular appointment Sunday. A fair crowd was out. It was decided to hold protracted meeting beginning first Sunday in May. If it suits the Methodist pastor, Rev. Plant will likely have a union meeting, as did last year.

A good crowd out and a good singing at the church Sunday night

On Saturday, March 26, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hartric carried four of their pupils to Canyon for the Declamation contest. Billie Knox, who won first, Fannie May Franklin, 2nd, Ramona Hamblen and Mildred Moore. They were shown the buffaloes, and a number of other courtesies, giving them a nice day.

J. E. McGehee accidentally cut his foot with an axe a week ago. Quite painful, but is improving. Can get about some.

Three truck loads and several cars from Whitfield and Providence schools passed thru Wayside Friday on their way to Palo Duro canyon. They seemed to have a big time. They were from Swisher county, and it was the first trip for some.

Our teachers of Wayside school, Mr. and Mrs. Hartric and Miss Douglas with a number of pupils and some patrons attended the Interscholastic meet Friday and Saturday at Goodnight. Regret our inability to record those who won, but a number won out, we understand, to Wayside's credit.

The COUNTY — The COLLEGE — And CANYON

CHAMBER OF COMERCE

FRED E. WORTHAM, Secretary

A solicitor of advertising for a Radio station was in Canyon a few days ago and from all that has been learned to date he was just a bit questionable as to honesty and intent.

A few days ago a merchant in Canyon called the secretary's attention to a solicitor for Radio advertising for an Amarillo station. From what the solicitor had told this merchant he appeared not to be on the square. In fact he made one statement regarding the Chamber of Commerce programs in Amarillo, which was absolutely false and when notified, the station management called the Chamber of Commerce and requested a check up of the solicitor's visit to Canyon.

This is just another example of where anyone not absolutely honest or straight or who is selling some fake scheme can be checked up with before he has the money of the merchants in Canyon and has gone his way. If every member of the Chamber of Commerce will have every solicitor investigated before they listen to the schemes, little of the merchant's money will be wasted in fake advertising and other schemes.

This is just another service of the Chamber of Commerce, and one that if used properly will prove to be worth more to this town than it costs to maintain the organization.

"There's nothing so dead as 1929—unless its the fellow who still measures his business by it!"—Forbes Magazine.

The only ship that comes to him who waits, is the Receiver-S-H-I-P.

The Chamber of Commerce is hunting county-wide talent for radio programs and we will give everyone who has some unusual feature that might go well in a radio program an opportunity to perform on next Trades Day in Canyon.

In the recent meeting of the Panhandle Secretaries Association newspapers and their work in a community became a part in the discussion. One secretary remarked that he would refuse to serve in any community that did not have a good newspaper, or where the newspaper did not cooperate with him and the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Canyon is indeed fortunate in having the splendid newspaper that we do and the wide-awake and public spirited policy it has. The work of any Chamber of Commerce is greatly handicapped without the cooperation of the local newspaper. In practically every instance the greatest community work can be attributed to such active publications as your home town newspaper.

Within a few years the West Texas State Teachers College will be ready to celebrate its Silver Anniversary. We wonder if it is too premature to mention such here. Is it too early to begin plans for such a celebration?

In an address before the Seattle, Washington, Chamber of Commerce, Silas H. Strawn, president of the National Chamber, had the following to say regarding the importance of present support of the chamber of commerce: "In these times there is a tendency to draw away from support of chambers of commerce in interest of economy. May I suggest that if valuable and necessary in good times, obviously they are more valuable and necessary in depressed times. I do not think there is any better investment a business man can make than in the support of his chamber of commerce or trade association and ceretainly there is no place where his energy, intelligently exerted, can produce better results."

"Frozen minds are far more dangerous than frozen assets in periods of depression." Turn these words over in your mind and give them just a bit of thought and see what they really mean. We need the right kind of thinking more today than ever before.

The Panhandle Hardware and Implement Association will meet in Amarillo on April 18, 19, and 20. C. L. Thompson of the Thompson Hardware Company has earned a nation-wide reputation for himself while serving that organization as its secretary during the past several years. This is one of the largest regional gatherngs of hardware men in the entire country. As a result Canyon gets much favorable advertising through the work of the association's secretary.

It is very interesting to note the varied uses being made of Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States. They are being used as forces to hold communities together in times of emergencies. Recently the Association of Commerce of Urbana, Illinois, halted the run on two banks in that city.

From false rumors a run was begun on the town's two banks and failure was inevitable. This meant the crippling of the entire community for years to come. The mayor of the town declared martial law for five days which halted all lines of business, except drug stores, cafes, hotels and filling stations. Following this he called a meeting of the leading business men and Association of Commerce directors. A plan was formulated and the commerce men began working. All depositors were called upon by members of the Association of Commerce committees and asked to pledge their faith and confidence in the banks by retaining their deposits still in the banks and to return those deposits already removed. Thus the run on the banks was stopped and the banks reopened for business the second day after martial law was declared.

Workers were kept busy one entire night carrying out the drive, but the situation was changed from one of hysteria to that of calmness and confidence. As a result of the drastic action by the mayor and the campaign conducted by the Association of Commerce, when the banks reopened one received deposits to the amount of 31 times the withdrawals and the other one had deposits to the amount of 25 times the withdrawals of the mad run.

President Hill Defends Cost and Value of Education in Radio Address Over KGRS

"It is my contention that bad morals are at the root of all our difficulties today," said President J. A. Hill in his address over radio station K G R S Tuesday afternoon, March 29.

In enlarging upon that idea, President Hill illustrated with a discussion of the lawlessness in America, explaining, "Now, a man becomes lawless only when his desire for self-satisfaction exceeds his sense of obligation to others or to the social whole. In other words, his selfishness, his greed, his lust, and his self indulgence—all base qualities—rise above his respect for the rights of others and his love for his fellowman. He is not willing to play the game according to rule, because the rule gets in the way of his own selfishness. Accordingly, he steals an automobile, robs a bank, violates the chastity of womanhood, kidnaps a baby. We call him a criminal and put the law on his trail. On the other hand, it may be that he only swindled a customer in a trade, violated the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act, or won a bet on a ball game: in which case his friends usually call him a smart man. . . . He lacks loyalty to his best self and to the government which guarantees to him the right of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. If all so-called good citizens would only respect the law, much of our trouble would vanish over night. To say it another way, if men's moral standards were saturated with unselfishness or social motives society would again tend to stabilize and condiness or social motives, society would prevail.

Tax Problem

"We can get another illustration from our tax situation. There seems to be much discontent with taxation . . . federal, state and local. Now, there are three classes of people in this country. One is composed of those who pay their taxes regularly, conscientiously, patriotically . . . a diminishing group. A second who, though just as honest, conscientious and patriotic, cannot pay their taxes . . . a constantly growing group. The third is composed of those who will not pay their taxes . . . also a growing group.

"Every single problem we have . . . economic, industrial, political, international, or what not . . . is a problem of morality. If this be true, then we can find permanent cure for our ills only by a process of improving our moral standards. The banishment of ignorance, the cultivation of appreciation of intelligence, the enthronment of self-control, the development of appreciation for the good, the beautiful, and the true, the elevation of our satisfactions, the broadening of our visions, the deepening of our interest in others, the better control of our emotions, and a higher regard for our obligations of every kind . . . these are the remedies that will quicken the pulse of our nation and restore color to her cheeks."

Discusses School Tax

Next, President Hill discussed the education and school tax situation in Texas. Some people, in seeking a cause for present financial conditions, have laid the blame upon the cost of education. In Texas the cost of public elementary and secondary education is 2.15 percent of the total current income of the state and has been thus for about a decade. It is not increasing. "Expenditures for public elementary and secondary education in Texas amount to slightly less than one fourth (24.6 percent) of all federal, state, and local taxes collected within the state. Of state and local tax collections, 33.0 percent are devoted to the support of public schools. Federal, state and local tax collections in Texas (1929); $267,727,253. State and local tax collections (1929); $199,724,293. Expenditures for public elementary and secondary education (1928); $65,917,564.

Defends Education Cost

"How do school costs compare with certain other expenditures?" Dr. Hill continued. "The cost of all public education, elementary, secondary, and collegiate, in Texas, is 34.0 percent of the amount spent annually for the construction of buildings; 13.1 percent of annual expenditures for the purchase and operation of automobiles; and 40.3 percent of annual expenditures for certain luxuries, including tobacco, soft drinks, confections, admissions to theaters and other amusements, jewelry, perfumes, cosmetics, and sporting goods. . . I submit that some Spartan self-denial would serve well the republic that seeks to preserve our liberties. . . .

"In conclusion, let me ask what are some of the benefits which Texas has derived for her expenditures for education? Unquestionably the list if complete would be long and invaluable. Certainly:

1. Her wealth has been vastly increased.
2. Her natural resources have been developed.
3. Her children have been prepared for vocational success.
4. Her homes have been made happier, her government more serviceable, her intellectual and spiritual life enriched, her income greatly increased, and her citizens made more intelligent. The blight of ignorance has been lifted from the minds of millions of her children and their feet have been placed upon the road to successful living. Is there any price too high for such achievement?

Louise Jacobson; and pianist, Frances Usery.

Jarrett, Barnett, Cook to Score Oil Town School Plants

Dean R. P. Jarrett, Dean of Men Harris M. Cook, and Dr. Albert Barnett will spend today and tomorrow scoring the school systems of Pampa, Panhandle, and Borger, and the data they gather will be used by Law Sone, superintendent of Panhandle schools, in his Master's thesis.

The school systems will be scored on their physical plants, finances, and instruction. The three systems to be scored were selected because they are oiltowns and Mr. Sone's thesis will deal with the effect of oil booms on education. He took his Bachelor's degree here, and he is taking his M. A. here, with his thesis under the direction of Dr. Jarrett.

W. T. faculty members have often scored school systems in the past on request, and definite standards with special score sheets are used.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Classified rates are two cents per word for the first insertion, and one cent per word for each subsequent insertion. This rate applies to all legal notices.

All classified advertisements must be paid in advance unless arrangements are made in person to care for the payment of them. Classified ads received through the mail will not be published unless accompanied by the cost of insertion.

Word ads intelligently—do not try to save a few cents by leaving out necessary words; tell who, what, where, and, if essential, when and why.

"I was sick and nervous with indigestion and stomach gas. One dose of Adlerika helped. I eat anything now and sleep good."—Henry Dodd.

Adlerika reaches BOTH upper and lower bowel, washing out poisons which cause gas, nervousness and bad sleep. Get Adlerika today; by tomorrow you feel the wonderful effect of this German doctor's remedy. Jarrett Drug Company. 1
